

Reach Fair

By Royal Charter since 1201

Welcome!

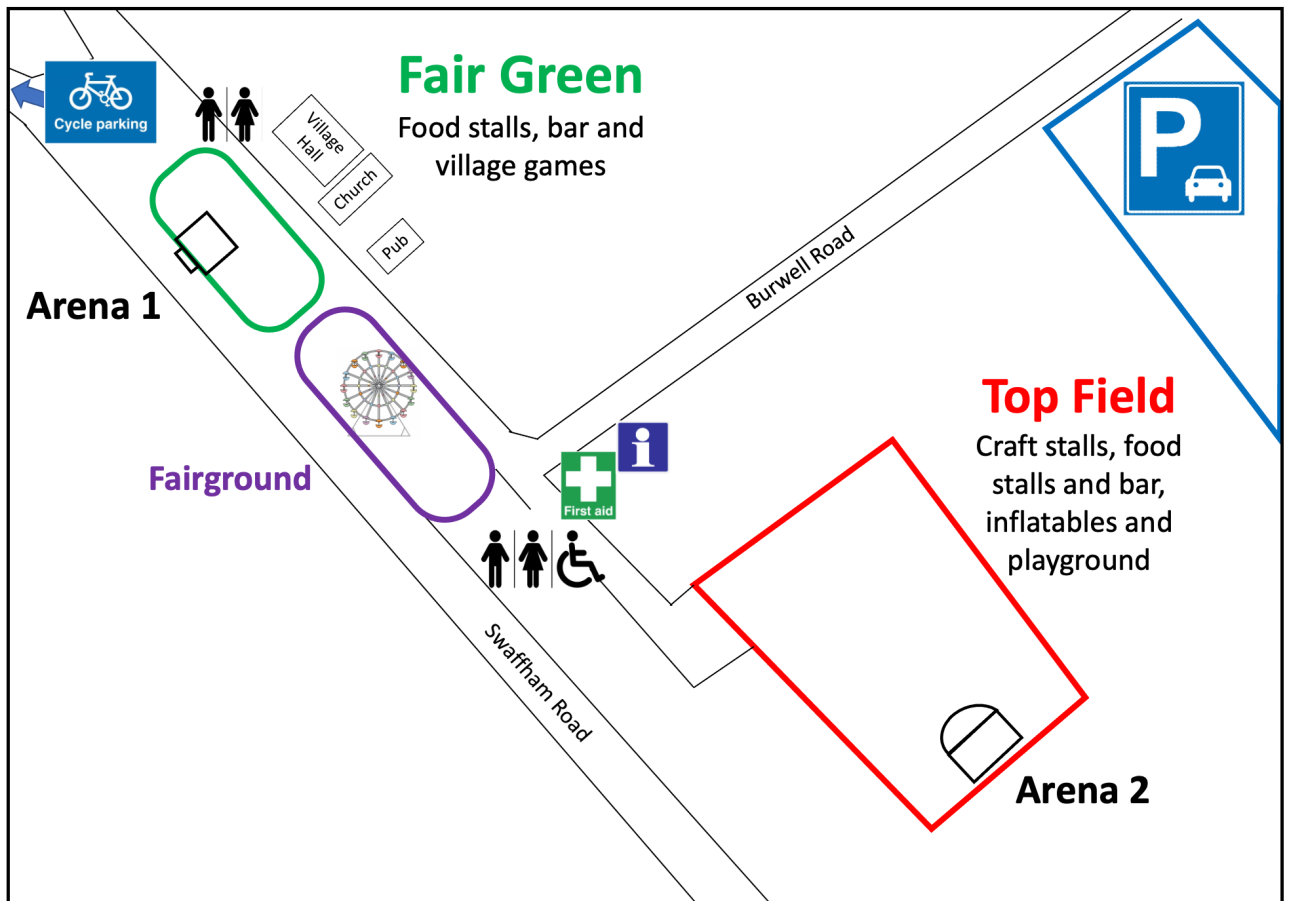

We're delighted that you've chosen to visit us today

In 1201 King John granted a charter for the holding of a fair in Reach. According to original custom, it is opened by the Mayor of Cambridge accompanied by the Aldermen in full regalia and penny coins are thrown to visitors in the crowd. This programme will give you information on what you can expect from your day in Reach – and while you are here, why not take the opportunity to explore our lovely village!
